

CoBioRes is a young biotech company that develops targeted therapies in the oncology field, with its lead compound ready for clinical development. Offices and labs are located at Campus Gasthuisberg in Leuven.

In order to expand and strengthen our team, we are looking for an enthusiastic

Lead Biologist Oncology

Job description:

- You are responsible for the outline and planning of the in vivo experiments
- You actively participate in setting out the research strategy
- You are managing the people from the in vivo team
- You interact on a frequent basis with your managers and co-scientists
- You present data during internal and external meetings
- You manage collaborations with external parties (CRO, partners, etc.)
- You are involved in the search and evaluation activities
- You write grant applications

Profile:

- PhD in biology, biomedical sciences, biochemistry or related discipline
- Minimum of 5 years experience in a biotech environment
- Experience in oncology drug development
- Felasa C-certified
- Accurate and pro-active
- Flexible team player
- Able to work independently
- Good presentation skills and pitching of scientific concepts
- Fluent in English

Offer:

- A competitive salary package and benefits
- Contract of unlimited duration
- A dynamic work environment

Send your application together with your resume before 30 June 2021 to nele.kindt@cobiore.be

More info: cobiore.be